PERSONALITY DISORDER TRAINING FOR OPD PATHWAY

Funded courses in Kent, Surrey & Sussex

Windmill Training & the National Probation Service are running courses in the Kent, Surrey and Sussex areas for people on the offender personality disorder pathway or who work with offenders.

The new OPD KUF is a 2-day national course developed by the National Institute of Mental Health, that helps with an understanding of:

- What a personality disorder is
- How personality disorders can develop
- Formulations in context
- Containment
- Effective team working
- Dealing with risk

The course draws on basic theories on interpersonal perspectives and interaction dynamics. Supporting the development of practical skills and individual confidence in working within the OPD Pathway.
